

DURACELL Slat Wall Unit

The Duracell Slat Wall Unit is the ultimate display solution for retailers, combining functionality, durability, and striking visual appeal to elevate your store's presentation while highlighting Duracell's industry-leading range of batteries. Designed to meet the needs of high-traffic retail environments, this stand offers a compact yet robust structure that fits seamlessly into various settings. Its thoughtful design ensures quick and convenient access to essential battery options, catering to customers who value both quality and reliability.

Duracell batteries are built to last, with unused batteries staying powered for up to 10 years in ambient storage. These batteries are Duracell's top recommendation for everyday devices such as digital cameras, television remotes, toys, and gaming controllers. They're also an excellent choice for regularly used items like flashlights, portable game controllers, shavers, toothbrushes, and more.

A testament to their dependability, Duracell was part of the historic Apollo 11 mission in 1969, becoming the first battery to land on the moon. This legacy of innovation and trust underscores the value of offering Duracell products in your retail space, providing customers with power solutions they can count on.
