MCLAREN'S FIRST BAHRAIN WIN!

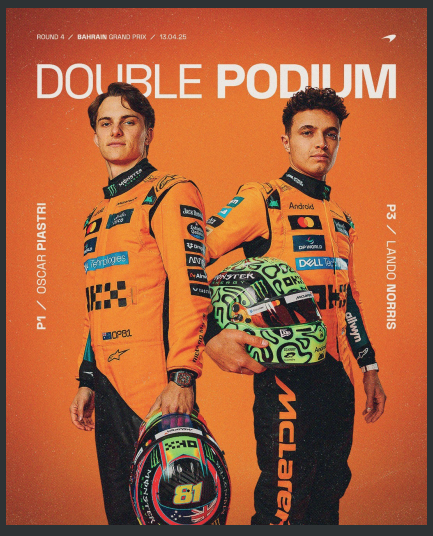

McLaren
FORMULA 1 TEAM

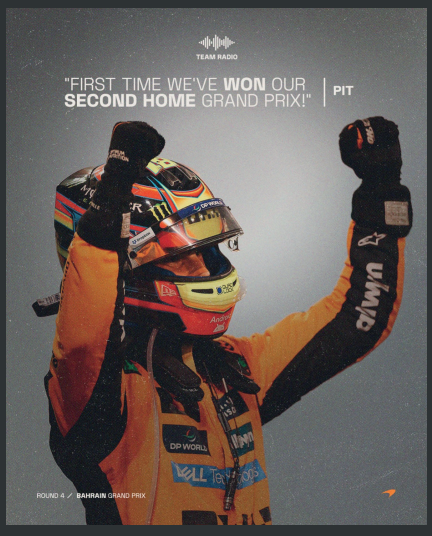

Flawless was the assessment of Oscar Piastri's race engineer after the Australian delivered a consummate victory at the Bahrain Grand Prix. Calm and controlled throughout, this was a champion's drive from Piastri that has made it abundantly clear he is in contention to return the championship this season.

Tom Stallard, a 2008 Olympic rowing silver medallist for Great Britain, is Piastri's engineer but the Australian, unflappable, barely needed so much as a gentle nudge from him all race, such was the ease with which he drove from pole to flag to take McLaren's first victory at the Sakhir circuit.

IT'S A PAPAYA DOUBLE PODIUM IN BAHRAIN!
